Annual Constituency Convention held at Millet

For the first time in its history the Wetaskiwin Federal Constituency Association held its annual convention in Millet, on June 22. Mr. John West, Mayor of Millet, welcomed the delegates in a very neat and pleasing address. He then presented a beautifully inscribed key to Mr. Robt. Haskins, president of the Association. This ceremony was one of the pleasant interludes of the afternoon session.

The secretary's report showed the Association to be in a very favorable condition financially.

Wm. Irvine, M.P., gave an interesting report of the work done during the last session of parliament. He characterized it as a session barren of any results insofar as the amelioration of present conditions were concerned. He explained the attitude of his group in the house to such major questions as the Railway Bill, etc.

The convention differed from all previous ones in that the resolutions towards which are indicated on the C.C.F. platform. Resolutions discussed dealt with (1) Municipal Hall Insurance; (2) The Douglas Plan. Two important amendments were made to the constitution. Both were for the purpose of allowing juniors to become members of the Association.

The Junior Director for Wetaskiwin Constituency, Wm. Runtz, pleaded with the audience for awakening of interest in the Junior work. His address was delivered in an earnest and pleasing manner and made quite a favorable impression.

In the evening one of the largest audiences ever seen in Millet, listened with wrapt attention to an excellent address by E. J. Garland, M.P. for Bow River. With an eloquence and dramatic force that held the audience with him, he traced the history of the present crisis. He showed how improvements in methods of production,

PONOKA MAN PULLS FAST ONE ON CROWS

You can believe it or not but George (Ripley) Gordon had it in his Ponoka Herald that Ben Dickau has been bothered with crows for some time, but has fallen upon a novel plan of taking the eggs out of the nests and placing them in a box. The crows, he said, have been hatching 20 chickens out of 20 eggs set.—Market Examiner.

Recreation Grounds to be at Gwynne

The regular meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Montrose, No. 458, was held in the Council office on Friday, with all the Council members present.

Minutes of last regular and a special meeting were read and adopted on the motion of Coun. Johnson.

Correspondence was read from the following: Logie & Manley re concessions on recreation grounds. Letter filed.

J. E. Orr applying for position as Weed Inspector. Letter filed.

Royal Alexandra Hospital and City Hospital, Calgary, notifying admission of residents of this Municipality. Letters filed.

A delegation of ratepayers from Div. No. 6 was present to speak in regard to the selection of a recreation ground to be purchased with the proceeds of the Community Progress Competition last year. The ground proposed, to be located in the N.E. portion of the Municipality.

E. R. Rasmussen spoke recommending that the location be on the N.W. 8-47-22-4.

Mr. H. Inglis spoke recommending that the ground be situated at Gwynne on the place that has been used for many years for this purpose. After considerable discussion be-

Mr. Irvine spoke on what the C.C.F. would do if they gained power at the next election. He outlined their plans for accomplishing the changes advocated by this policy. He further dealt with the overcoming of Constitutional difficulties that would be met in the carrying out of the plan. He involved in their plans for economy, and the position of the C.C.F. in regard to international affairs. He concluded his address by answering the critics in respect to private property and rewards for service under Co-Operative Commonwealth.

At the evening session, Mr. Garland, M.P. for Bow River, gave a rousing address to a crowd estimated at about 250 people. Mr. Garland, like the other speakers of the day, condemned capitalism to the scrap heap before further progress can be accomplished. He expounded on the debt question in a very forceful manner and spoke convincingly of the favorable acceptance of the C.C.F. policy in eastern centres.

Mr. Young, Provincial President of U.F.A., and Mrs. Ross, Vice-President of the U.F.W.A., gave pleasure to their audiences by their brief, but interesting talks on the work of the groups.

Weddings

PATTISON-WASHBURN

A pretty wedding took place in Edmonton on Thursday, June 22nd, when Marie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Washburn, of Brightbank, Alta., became the bride of Mr. Thomas Edwin Pattison, Wetaskiwin. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few immediate friends. Mr. and Mrs. Pattison will make their home in the Wetaskiwin district, attending to their business in Edmonton. The bride is a native of Brightbank, and the groom is a native of Wetaskiwin.

MISS IRVINE, A BRIDE-TO-BE HONORED BY MANY FRIENDS

The Golden Glow C.G.T., under the leadership of Mrs. Colpitts, gave a breakfast party last Saturday morning in honor of Miss Irvine, their former leader, who is leaving to be married. The girls, laden with frying pans, kettles and cooking forks, hiked out into the country to cook breakfast for the bride. The party was a very successful one, and the bride was honored by many friends.

Miss Edna Hall, the pianist of the group, played an autograph album in which her club mates had written. They returned home tired but happy. A treasure hunt was staged in which Miss Irvine found a silver tray, the gift of the girls.

503 CHILDREN HAD BEEN EXAMINED BY KIWANIS CLINIC

The examination clinic sponsored by the Wetaskiwin Kiwanis Club has closed down for the months of July and August, or during the summer holidays. It is the intention of the club to carry on this work in the early autumn, when the children from the rural schools tributary to Wetaskiwin will have the opportunity to avail themselves of the free examination.

The examination which is made by the "tooth doctor" and dentist covers the eyes, heavy ears, throat and teeth. 503 children from the Wetaskiwin schools were examined during the past three months and out of this number only 14 were found to be clear of all defects. The examinations of these disclosed that 101 children's eyes, 14 noses and 142 throats should have attention. Approximately 50 of this number were recommended for urgent attention. The dentists recommended 13 extractions and 1088 fillings required.

Any of the rural school boards in our district who have not yet got in touch with the Kiwanis Club and wish to take advantage of this service are requested to do so at the earliest opportunity so that the necessary arrangements can be made to carry on the work after school opens in the autumn.

RETIRING TEACHERS HONORED BY WETASKIWIN STAFF

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Fletcher on Monday evening last, when the Wetaskiwin teaching staff gathered to do honor to those who are retiring this year, namely, Mr. T. Fletcher, Miss Irvine, Mr. Farewell, and Miss Mackay.

Games were played, after which the guests of honor were each presented with gifts as tokens of the respect and esteem in which they are held by other members of the staff. A dainty lunch was then served.

The party concluded by singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," and wishing the guests of God speed.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE HAS ENJOYABLE COUNTRY MEETING

A very pleasant afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. Robert Shaw on Thursday last when about twenty-five were present to enjoy the annual Grandmother's Day. After the business was disposed of the guests enjoyed a very enjoyable afternoon. Games were played afterwards, including a wonderful game of baseball. The evening was brought to a close with a song, Rev. A. R. Schrag expressed the regret of the choir over Mrs. Mackay's departure from the choir and church, and wished her every success in her new field of labor. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Mackay for her kindness and hospitality, after which all joined in the singing of "For they are jolly good fellows," and "Auld Lang Syne."

Obituary

MRS. GEORGE BOEHM

Another old-timer in the community passed away on Monday in the person of Mrs. George Boehm, at the age of sixty-one years. The cause of the demise was heart trouble. Deceased was born in Germany and came to this country about thirty-two years ago with her husband, and to some place, and he believed the young people of today had the same urge. He advised young people who were endeavoring to solve the difficulties of today to study the problem of economics. This opened up a great field for careful thought, and was a great challenge. The problem of co-operation was also a great

MALCOLM CAMPBELL

After being a patient in the Wetaskiwin hospital only a few days, Malcolm Campbell passed away on Saturday afternoon last at the age of eighty-three years. He was born in Scotland where he resided until about twenty-two years ago when he came to Canada and located on a homestead in the Wenham Valley district and since that time has been an essential resident of the community. Among his activities he served in the British Navy for a term of twenty-five years.

He was, besides a large circle of friends, three daughters and five sons: Mrs. Felsen of Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. Nicholson of Wenham Valley, with whom he made his home for several months before being removed to the hospital; Peter of Garmouth, Alta.; Rodrick, of the Life Guards, England; Robert in India; and Jack and Angus in Vancouver.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon, service being conducted in the First United Church by Rev. A. R. Schrag, and the interment took place in the Wetaskiwin cemetery.

UNITED CHURCH CHOR

HELD DELIGHTFUL PICNIC

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith was the rendezvous of the First United Church Choir and their friends on Thursday afternoon last, when an enjoyable picnic was held in honor of the choir. A buffet supper was served in the living room from a beautifully appointed table, decorated with spring flowers and tall green tapers in green glass holders, to which needless to say all present did ample justice. Games were played afterwards, including a wonderful game of baseball. The evening was brought to a close with a song, Rev. A. R. Schrag expressed the regret of the choir over Mrs. Mackay's departure from the choir and church, and wished her every success in her new field of labor. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Mackay for her kindness and hospitality, after which all joined in the singing of "For they are jolly good fellows," and "Auld Lang Syne."

Enjoyable Rural Meeting Held by Kiwanis Club

The Wetaskiwin Kiwanis Club held a delightful country meeting as guests of the Crooked Lake local U.F.A. on Wednesday afternoon of last week. The gathering assembled on the beautiful lawn of Neils Linden, which was artistically decorated with Swedish flags and Union Jacks and bunting for the occasion, one of the Swedish flags Mr. Linden brought with him from the old country. Mr. Linden has one of the finest residences in the community, surrounded by lovely flowers and shrubbery, and every comfort was given the guests who had gathered both from town and country in large numbers.

During the afternoon, the Wetaskiwin Kiwanis Club presented a number of selections, which were greatly enjoyed, and two softball games were played. In the men's game the Crooked Lake boys won a difficult victory in defeating the Kiwanian aggregation and after this encounter was over a ladies' game was played.

The banquet was served on the lawn, and the many appetizing viands were served in the very best style. In addition to the Kiwanis rural meeting, the event was the commemoration of Swedish Midsummer Day, and Kiwanian Ed. Rasmussen explained to the gathering that the day was a big occasion in the old country, and the first celebration took place before Christmas was established, dating back to the time when the people worshipped the sun, and he also gave a number of legends connected with the event.

Kiwanian C. C. Watson referred to the work of the hospital clinic, and the information given the meeting may be found elsewhere in this issue. Prof. Sackville of the University of Alberta, also spoke briefly, expressing his pleasure at being in attendance, and meeting such a large number of people.

Dean Howes, of the University of Alberta, was the principal speaker, and he was in a reminiscent mood, referring to several incidents in his life. He had an urge to do something and to go some place, and he believed the young people of today had the same urge. He advised young people who were endeavoring to solve the difficulties of today to study the problem of economics. This opened up a great field for careful thought, and was a great challenge. The problem of co-operation was also a great

Picnic at Battle River Community Park

On Wednesday, June 21st, Haultain U.F.A. local staged a successful picnic enjoyed by a large crowd.

The day was started with a victory for Verdun baseball team over Battle River.

After lunch the people gathered to listen to an address by Wm. Irvine, M.P., outlining the demise of the capitalist system with the attendant tragedy and suffering.

Mr. Irvine said the C.C.F. alone offered a program of fundamental reform, of organization and co-operation, which would lead the people out of the morass in which they found themselves today.

In answer to a question Mr. Irvine said the Douglas system of finance was in harmony with the C.C.F. program and would be put into effect if found best suited to Canadian conditions.

Mr. Irvine mentioned that he brought Mr. Douglas to Canada ten years ago to testify before the Banking Inquiry Commission. The stand

Lone Ridge Observes U.F.A. Sunday

The Lone Ridge Local observed U.F.A. Sunday on the 26th inst., when a goodly number assembled at the Lone Ridge hall in the afternoon to listen to addresses by J. Russell Love, M.L.A., and Wm. Irvine, M.P.

The chair was taken by W. Stevens, president of the local, who in his opening remarks, stressed the value and significance of the U.F.A. Sunday. The Scriptural reading was taken by Mr. Brant, pastor of the local Baptist church. Mrs. E. Lee presided at the piano, and also sang "My Task," as a solo.

The chief speaker of the afternoon, Mr. Russell Love, of Wainwright, gave a very thoughtful address. The speaker referred at some length to the basic principles of the U.F.A. movement, which he claimed were based on the same principles as Christianity itself. He said the aims of the U.F.A. were definitely Christian while the present economic system in its application to human beings, was definitely anti-Christian. The speaker gave several illustrations showing how the present system operated, and showed how defunct it was opposed to the spirit of Christianity and declared that before Canada could claim to be a Christian country, a great change in our economic system would be needed. Such changes would come, said the speaker, with the application of the principle of the U.F.A. and the C.C.F. movements.

Both speakers were listened to with the closest attention and with great appreciation. The meeting closed with the Benediction, pronounced by the local pastor, Rev. Brant.

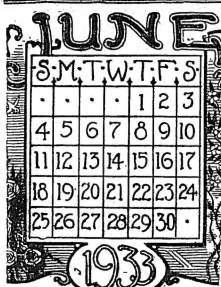

Everyone is reminded to see Mr. Rimmer able to be present again at his long sojourn in the University hospital.

Members are reminded of the special meeting of the local on July 21st at Maxwell's Beach. Meet at 10 a.m. Bring tools and lunch.

Everyone is reminded of the annual picnic to be held at Maxwell's Beach on Friday, July 7th. Watch for announcement in this paper.

Something for Nothing

Much as some persons might wish to disclaim it, there are but few today who are entirely immune from that subtle sense of satisfaction which overtakes the recipient of a free gift. It may be that we only think we have got something for nothing, but that makes no difference—the little thrill will be there and we enjoy the free drinks at the opening of a beer parlor or the cigar on payment of a bill at the co-operative store all the more because they have come to us (as we think) without money and without price.

Some, of course, are more sensitive to this appeal than others. There is, e.g., the story of the Scotsman who, but not the pages of The Times would be blackened with contemptuous references to that long-suffering and much misunderstood race if the present writer could help it. It is more to the point to say that for all those sensitive ones, be they Scotch or Jew or Finn, there is no place for them today like the post office. For here you get expecting little—a private letter perhaps, or a little cheque from some source or another, or of course your local paper on Thursday—but lo! for once your expectations are dwarfed by the event and you come away with an armful of valuable pictures, specimen copies of newspapers or magazines all indispensable to the home, prospectuses from distant countries, and other unrivalled facilities for coloring money, and numbers of carefully type addressed letters with a dignifying Esq. appended to your name, which would not feel flattened and pleased with such an assortment of free gifts?

But just at this point sober truth compels us to enter on the general proposition above laid down. Certain persons struggling with their congested post office boxes have been observed to display a lack of gratitude and even positive displeasure at this invasion, as they splendidly phrased it, of their private rights. They have even so far forgot themselves, these insensitive ones, as to treat their gifts with cold disdain, even attempting to leave them on the floor in flat defiance of the notice which very properly reminds them that the post office is no place for litter.

Positively, usually well-conditioned class of men, have been overheard to utter curses, not loud but deep as they struggled with a task made doubly onerous by the better reactions in question, and waiting lines of farmers with many miles to go home have been known to say such unreasonable things about the postmaster.

But these and many other little snags that attend the case may well be put down to the general imperfection incident to human nature. The well-ordered waiter at the post office will adopt an attitude of patience as his box is being selected, but when at last he succeeds in dislodging the articles which carry them all carefully home, he will find the consideration they deserve. It is true, of course, that he may find many curious misfits among his gifts. He may even have a rooted distrust of patent medicines and curiously enough the first thing he takes up from his parcel is a work devoted to the propagation of the same species. But this he may not at once divine from the appearance of the booklet. It is very attractively got up in yellow covers and armed, as some plants and animals are, against danger and destruction. It has a pretty little ribbon attached to one corner with the mute instruction printed on top, "Hang me up."

A further preservative device is the clearly printed legend that announces the book as "Indispensable for Home, Farm, Factory and Office." His eye next falls on the elaborate design on the cover which is, in its way, a work of art. Intervened are various miniatures, emblematic of man's industrial labors and prominent is the solemn sandglass reminding him of the brief period in which he may labor or do anything else. Inset in this comprehensive scheme is the portrait of a venerable looking man whose hair (by some freak of nature or perhaps by the intensity of his labors for humanity) has quite deserted the place where it ought chiefly to grow, and concentrated itself on his chin where it descends in the form of an inverted triangle fully half way down his waistcoat—the sort of beard, in short, which Moses might have worn and been proud of. The front-piece altogether conveys to the reader the impression that here within the pages of this modest booklet is to be found a symposium on the whole art of life. Curiously, it may be, he turns the pages. At once a thin suspicion, for here is the picture of a young perfectly healthy child obediently opening its mouth for the reception of a spoonful of some kind of dope administered by an elegant female with a smile on her face never actually seen outside the movies, and whom he takes to be the child's mother. A few pages of further disillusionment and he comes at last on a picture that fairly gives him the pip and ends his examination. It is that of an emaciated female crouching in a corner with a look of despair on her face which recalls for him some of the horrible pictures of destruction that come from the evil days of Russia, and standing beside her, weeping and clapping her hands, is the most attenuated suit of bathing dress, and another female whose form might well arouse thoughts of Mother Eve herself at her first hour of glory. The intended inference is obvious: she has been drinking the stuff, the other hasn't.

The next article he opens he consigns at once to the stove before his wife and girls can set eyes on it, for his crop has been frozen this year and this dazzling sheet of ruffs and gewgaws and trinkets all in the height of fashion is almost sure to prove an apple of discord in his household. By way of change he opens next one of a very select book club somewhere down east. It is a personal letter, too, and expressed in very flattering terms. His name has been handed in by a friend as one likely to be interested in the best books produced in Canada. A complete set of the club is made up of these books periodically, and a copy of each is to be sent him immediately on publication. The fee for membership in this club is made nominal—some ten or fifteen, or it may be twenty dollars. It is very alluring and a momentary notion flashes through his mind that he is in on a good thing and that the chance may slip past. (But should he be of those who must choose their books for themselves, this notion will soon be corrected, for neglecting, as he does the offer, repeated application for his patronage may soon disclose the ploy of some motive stronger than the disinterested promotion of a Canadian culture.)

Having at last got through the whole pile he makes the discovery that not one of those chance shots at his favor has hit the mark. His free gifts have melted into thin air. And as it may be a reflection that he will come upon him. How far can this new sleaze of the consumer continue? Is there an economic limit to this advertising? Is this cost in all cases included in price, or is it a rule of the game that all must obey the unlucky ventures taking a loss on this count. And the effect of all this solicitation on the consumer—does it tend to unfit him for a rational mode of economic life? This unwanted lapse in the moral aspect of the question brings to his mind an almost forgotten line of a sonnet familiar to his school days. This unwanted lapse in the moral aspect of the question brings to his mind an almost forgotten line of a sonnet familiar to his school days. This unwanted lapse in the moral aspect of the question brings to his mind an almost forgotten line of a sonnet familiar to his school days.

An arm protruding from the machine ahead can apparently signify anyone of the following things: The motorist is (1) knocking ashes off his cigarette; (2) going to turn to the left; (3) warning a small boy to shut up; (4) going to turn to the right; (5) pointing to the scenery; (6) going to back up; (7) feeling for rain; (8) telling the wife he is sure the front door is locked; (9) hailing a friend in a passing car; (10) going to stop. Let's hope he's not the last.

18 NATIONAL PARKS IN CANADA THE THREE LARGEST BEING IN ALBERTA AND SASKATCHEWAN

A total of 616,215 persons visited the 18 national parks of Canada in the fiscal year 1931-32. These great reservations cover an aggregate area of 18,000 square miles. Each has its own attractive characteristics. There are three scenic and four animal parks in Alberta, four scenic parks in British Columbia, one scenic park in Manitoba and one in Saskatchewan; one historic park in Nova Scotia and one in New Brunswick, one recreation park in Ontario and two island parks units. The largest of the parks is Jasper, Alberta, which has an area of 4,200 square miles. It is described as an immense mountain wilderness, with numbers of unclimbed peaks, glaciers, lakes of wonderful coloring, hot springs, a big game sanctuary and one of the finest golf courses in North America. More than 11,000 persons visited Jasper Park last year. Banff, the next largest park, has an area of 2,688 square miles. It is situated on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains. This mountain playground, in which the incomparably beautiful Lake Louise is located, offers as recreations, alpine climbing, riding, swimming, golf, tennis in the summer and a variety of sports in the winter months. It is the most popular of all the national parks in Canada. Last year, 128,946 persons visited this park. Prince Albert Park in Central Saskatchewan is the third largest park with an area of 1,800 square miles. It is situated in a forest country and has many lakes and streams in which there are excellent fishing, and has ideal camping grounds for motorists.

All the national parks in Canada are easily accessible by motor car and within the borders of the parks are 507 miles of motor roads, 2,514 miles of trails and 1,000 miles of telephone lines. The smallest of Canada's national parks is at Point Pelee, a short distance from Windsor, Ontario, and Detroit, Michigan. This park, only 634 square miles in area, is at Canada's most southerly latitude. Next to Banff it attracts the largest number of visitors. Last year over 150,000 persons went there in 38,105 motor cars, over 80 per cent being from the State of Michigan. This park constitutes one of the finest bird sanctuaries in Eastern Canada. It is one of the principal routes of migration for birds to and from their northern breeding areas and is one of the most attractive places in Eastern America.

All the national parks in Canada are open to visitors to whom every facility for enjoying the recreational advantages is offered.

PRINCESS REARS SONS TO BE GOOD SPORTS

Royalty's ruel for rearing children, as revealed in the London household of Princess Mary, centre about the principles of good sportsmanship and simplicity.

George and Gerald Lascelles, the attractive sons of Princess Mary and her husband, are adored throughout the kingdom and know nothing of their popularity. They do not even know that they are frequently referred to as "perfect little English gentlemen to the core."

It is related that when her first child was born and the little white bundle was placed in her arms, Princess Mary turned to her husband and said:

"Oh, I do want him to be a good sport."

And that wish of Princess Mary has been kept foremost in the Lascelles nursery. The eyes of George and Gerald are seldom dimmed by tears, and crying is discouraged by their mother.

To George and Gerald, the King of England is just "Gerald," the Prince of Wales is simply "Uncle David," and Princess Mary, daughter of the King, and adored of the Empire, is merely "Mummy" and their pal.

Princess Mary "cannot be truthfully called an old-fashioned mother, neither is she an ultra-modern one. She seems to have struck a happy medium in the combining of the best principles of many systems of motherhood and through intimate association with her children has instilled in them the qualities she wished."

There is no "baby talk" in the Lascelles household. The parents speak correctly and the sons follow suit. "I think that a child can appreciate beautiful words," Princess Mary once told a friend, "and I don't want my children to have to unlearn hundreds of silly words later."

Princess Mary and her husband never "talk down" to their sons, and as a result, both boys have perfect diction and an excellent vocabulary. Good reading has also contributed to this. Often Princess Mary, when her boys were smaller would go into the nursery and, with Gerald in her lap and George on a cushion at her feet, would read them Andersen's "Fairy Tales."

THE ODDITIES OF OUR LANGUAGE

We'll begin with box; the plural is boxes. One fowl is a goose, but two are called geese.

But the plural of ox should be oxen not oxes.

Yet the plural of mouse cannot be called mouses.

You may find a lone mouse, or a whole nest of mice, But the plural of house is houses not hices.

If the plural of man is always called men, Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen?

The cow in the plural may be called cows, or kine, But a boy if repeated, is never called bine;

And the plural of vow is vows, never bine. If the singular's this, and the plural is these, Should the plural of kiss ever be written keese?

Then one may be that, and the two would be thos, and the plural would never be hose.

We speak of a brother, and also of brethren, But though we say mother, we never say methren. Then the masculine pronouns are he, his and him, But imagine the feminine, she, she, and shim!

It holds its place in the regard of the community for the steady service which it gives week in, week out. It must give this service, whether at profit or loss. ### THE INTERNATIONAL WAY

"The more extensively a person reads apparently authoritative articles and books dealing with present-day economics, the more intensely he studies, investigates and seriously ponders over political, economic and social problems, with an open and discerning mind, the more such a person becomes convinced there is, after all, only one way by which solutions for existing problems and difficulties can be reached and that is the international way. . . . Narrow nationalism simply won't work. That's what is fundamentally wrong with the prevailing system—the attempt of each nation to shut itself up in a watertight compartment from all other nations—in so doing it is slowly but surely starving itself to death. The tearing down that is necessary is the tearing down of the whole network of wire entanglements and barriers of one kind and another that the nations have erected against each other. Let the nations off the path of narrow nationalism and on to the broad international highways of the world, and the depression will pass like a mist before the rising sun; unemployment will give place to industrial and business activity everywhere with the workers of one nation not begrudging work to other nations providing they are busily at work themselves, as there would be; and the primary producers on farms, in forests, fisheries and mines will again enjoy adequate markets and remunerative prices for the things they produce. The International Way is the world's highway; the International method is the Twentieth Century Method."

MY TASK

To love some one more dearly every day.
To help a wandering child to find his way.
To ponder o'er a noble thought and pray.
And smile when evening falls,
This is my task.
To follow truth as blind men long for light.
To do my best from dawn of day till night.
To keep my heart fit for His holy sight.
And answer when He calls,
That is my task.

COWS

(By P.M.C.)

It was a beautiful sunny day, the first springlike day we had had. After so much rain and running around in gum boots and mackintosh, with wet drops coursing down your back as you tried to avoid the branches and overflowing gutters, it was more than welcome.

This morning there had been a wonderful sunrise. The sky was pearly-grey, gradually turning to a wonderful pink, with gold edging as the sun rose. A golden streak appeared, rendering the pink saunder, and the sun, in all his majesty, came up. The birds were twittering and the frogs were croaking in the swamps; while under the verandah one bloated-looking chap croaked loudly, as if he wished to drown the others.

The sun caught the raindrops on the trees, turning them to rainbow hues, while the grass sparkled with millions of tiny diamonds, and a few white flowers were appearing and a cluster of dew nestled in their beautiful leaves.

But—cows are waiting to be milked. I hurried out to the barn, passing to the old house as he came along to bid me "good morning." A large grey cat, seated on the barn step, arched and purred himself against my legs as I passed and then followed me into the barn.

A Jersey calf kicked up her heels as I went by, and proceeded to hug her. The old girl turned round, licked my sleeve, and went on devouring hay. I have finished the milk, and the bucket and proceeded to her house. The old girl turned round, licked my sleeve, and went on devouring hay.

I always think. Cows are, as a rule, quite pleased to see you, and it's a pleasant, quiet animal, you can put your head against her flank, and sleep or dream as the spirit moves you, the while your fingers are rapidly extracting the yellow, creamy milk from her. She has a part, will stand there and chew her cud or munch hay, perhaps pausing once in a while to turn round and regard you, if you are inclined to be longer than she thinks right over the job.

It's a restful occupation, too. Sometimes I have gone down to milk when I have been so tired I've hardly known how to drag around at the end of the day. I've started to milk, put my head against the cow's side and slept, and when I have finished, the old cow turned around and woke me. Somehow, I've been quite refreshed. Perhaps the peace has soothed me, or perhaps it was just the mechanical milking which had allowed my thoughts to wander; or, maybe the cow has a special reserve fund which she imparts to you as you milk when you are very weary.

The cow just stands there, peacefully chewing away as if she hadn't a care in the world, and is quite willing to bear yours. And that's a great consolation when things go wrong or you feel extra weary.

I didn't always find milking a pleasant task, though. I remember the first time. Old Lady was very placid and many inept fingers had learnt to milk her before I did. She turned round and looked at me reproachfully as much as to say: "Well, after accepting so many titbits from you, I suppose I'll have to put up with it, but, really—can't your husband do it? There's only me and my daughter niece. You'd be much better attending to some other job."

Then she turned back to her manger, gave a kind of shake and stood still. I planted down the stool, grabbed my bucket, and started. I had milked a goat, so knew the procedure, but never will I forget how my fingers and arms ached! It was an effort to move them, but the old girl stood there and when, after what seemed to me hours, I finished her, she just turned around, looked at me and licked my sleeve. In hope that there was a carrot hidden for her somewhere. Nor was she disappointed.

Twice daily did I milk, and, at the end of a week my arms, being unable to ache any worse, began to recover, and I began to take an interest in milking. Many cows have I milked since then; young cows, old cows, and nervous cows, but Old Lady, I think, was always my favorite, until old age gathered her to the Great Pastures.

Cows soon got to know if you like them. I had one I had brought up from a calf, and whenever she got hurt she would come and huddle at the gate. One time she had a cut on her leg and the skin just lifted up as if she had been skinned. I bathed and dressed it and she would come up every morning waiting until I came to the gate and fixed it up. Then away she would go.

Some summer nights she didn't come home until it was dark. Then she would stand at the gate and make the night hideous until I went and milked her. She'd stand there in the pitch dark while I milked. Then I would open the gate to the barn and down she went.

I had a steer I raised. He was a lovely golden brown and had wonderful soft brown eyes. He was an awfully delicate calf and I had quite a job to raise him. However, I did. He used to be away in the bush with the other young stock, and if he were anywhere within hearing distance when I called, he would come full speed. Sometimes I would take a short cut down through the bush to the post office, and if he were anywhere round and saw me, he would come tearing over logs and through brush and gullies, pull up short just in front of me, put his head down to be rubbed and then follow me until I told him to depart.

When the weather was going to be bad he always came home bringing the other young things. He adored milk and bran and would put his head inside a bucket just like a dirty calf. He began to get bigger and bigger until at last Jim sold him for hay. I certainly missed him. He was so gentle and I was really fond of him.

Well, I've wandered a long way from milking, and the job is finished. So here goes for the separator and breakfast!

HAY FEVER

(By Dr. William J. Scholes)

Years ago we thought "Phelium Pratense," which is nothing but timothy hay, caused the seasonal attacks of asthma from which so many people suffer during summer. We now know that forty-four varieties of plants may cause the disease and, although "pollen disease" would be a better name for hay fever, it still remains.

Hay Fever Cures Whenever there are fifty-seven varieties of cure for a disease, we know none of them is any good. If any one of them were a real cure the other fifty-six would quickly pass into oblivion, soon desuetude. And that is precisely the situation in hay fever—there is no cure.

That the patients' mental attitude has much to do with the production of hay fever cannot be denied. Most of my hay fever patients know right to the day and the hour when this year's attack will strike them. Mr. A. for example, knows that on Thursday, the twelfth of August, his hay fever will be upon him. Not only that, but he knows it will hit him in the middle of the forenoon. And so through the whole list, they all know when it will come, how it will arrive, what it will do to them. They are looking for it, preparing for it—inviting it. Is it any wonder they get it? I sometimes think they would be terribly disappointed if the unwelcome guest failed to arrive.

The Pollen Of Hay Fever But what of the Pollen? Yes, it is the exciting cause of hay fever. But it isn't the only cause. Millions of people who inhale pollen do not have hay fever. Why? Because they are not built that way—they aren't predisposed to it. Perhaps in some cases, the predisposing factor is an abnormality of the nasal passage (polyps, enlarged turbinates, deflected septum). But many people so afflicted do not have hay fever and many others who have had their nose treated continue to have the disease. The ones who were cured by a nasal operation owed their cure to their implicit faith in the surgeon's statement that it would cure them.

Pollen Extracts Pollen extract is used more extensively each year and the results are good if the doctor can convince the patient that it will cure him. Beyond their psychic effect I don't think they have a particle of merit. The best cure for hay fever is a change of residence or a frost.—(Copyright).

JUST TWO TIMES TWO

Early in the eighteenth century a farmer made a contract, which he thought was a good one for him. He undertook to deliver for the sum of 25 two grains of rye on the following Monday. Four grains a week later, eight grains the week after that, and so on for a year. All went well for some weeks, but presently he found that his land delivered at the end of the year would require more rye than was sown in the whole of England. A lawsuit took place over the contract. What the farmer had not realized was that though twice two are four, two multiplied by itself fifty-two times comes to nearly ten thousand billion. (An effort to move them, but the old girl stood there and when, after what seemed to me hours, I finished her, she just turned around, looked at me and licked my sleeve. In hope that there was a carrot hidden for her somewhere. Nor was she disappointed.)

A number of the Senior members and visitors were present at the Junior U.F.A. meeting in the schoolhouse last Tuesday evening, and greatly enjoyed the reports of the Junior Conference given by the delegate, Ronald Hoskins, and the visitor Miss May Gray.

Charlie Robinson and Walter Miller were seen at the creek-one hot day lately, taking "high dives" from a board made for that purpose.

Hillside Junior will be represented at the Young People's Rally in Wetaskiwin on July 15th.

The U.F.W. are holding their meeting and a children's picnic at the school house on Thursday, July 6th.

HILLSIDE JUNIOR U.F.A.

The regular monthly meeting was held in the schoolhouse on the 25th.

The roll call was responded to by "What country I would visit and why I would make this choice if my expenses were paid."

It was decided to send a visitor to the Federal Constituency Convention in Millet on June 22nd. The Junior District Wm. White, was selected.

Whereas the Junior local has started a library it was decided that a committee be responsible for the same.

Wm. Charley, Wm. Runtz and Charles Robinson were appointed.

Ronald Hoskins, the delegate to the Junior Conference, gave a very interesting report. This was followed by a report from Miss May Gray, who was the visitor at the Conference.

The two resolutions on disarmament that were passed by the Junior U. F. A. at the University, were reported on by William Runtz.

The July meeting is to be held in West Liberty schoolhouse on the 21st. The social committee for the same is Misses Barbara and Kathleen Marr and Wallace Marr. The Juniors welcome young and old to their meetings.

They were pleased to see the Senior locals well represented at the June meeting.

Plans have been made to hold a Junior Rally in Wetaskiwin on July 15th, and its success is assured by the Juniors in the Wetaskiwin Constituency.

TO ENCOURAGE MATRIMONY

Government aid for young folk in Germany who want to get married is part of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's plan of attack on the unemployment problem. Details of which were revealed recently.

A portion of the proposed 1,000,000 mark fund to finance a vast unemployment programme will be assigned to encourage matrimony by the issuance of interest-free loans up to 1,000 marks to prospective brides and bridegrooms.

The essential condition attached to this assistance is that the bride shall engage only in duties of a housewife, thus leaving other jobs free for men to fill.

Henceforth, under the government's new scheme, domestic servants will be counted as children for purposes of computing the income tax of the head of the house who receives certain exemptions according to the size of his family.

Why Money is Wasted When Spent For Buying Tobacco

There are several reasons why the habit of smoking has become so prevalent with the younger generation. When there is such widespread publicity through radios, magazines, newspapers, etc., advertising the use of tobacco in its various forms as there is these days, as well as the daily contact with constant smokers, the younger generation find it difficult to avoid the temptation, and thus form the habit.

A person may give up his or her reason for smoking, but it is so easily relapsable, or even stylish, but they are making a serious mistake, because the nicotine contained in the tobacco is working its masterful effects on their physical system.

There are many vital organs injured by the use of tobacco, namely, the heart, lungs and the digestive and nervous systems. The use of tobacco also retards the growth of the youth who becomes a partaker at an early age. The most famous athletes of today are total abstainers of tobacco in any form. To illustrate this, the Commercial Grade, world's champlion girl basketball players, of Edmonton, are a perfect example. If any of the girls are found to be addicted to this habit, they are immediately disqualified for ever from the team.

If there were five cents spent on tobacco each day for ten years, there would be a great waste of money as the result. There are four important reasons why the use of tobacco is not beneficial to young people, namely:

1. It leaves its most harmful effects upon the nervous system, and in this way is a great detriment to scholarship.

2. It is a source of danger to the digestive organs, which, through the excessive use of narcotics become so impaired and are unable to carry out their proper functions.

3. It tends to weaken the heart by causing it to beat too fast or too slow and occasionally causes it to miss a beat.

4. If a person takes tobacco at an early age, it will become a powerful habit in early life, and will hinder early growth in a child; it also limits the life of a person.

BENNETT LISTS FOUR PROBLEMS OF CONFERENCE

London, June 25.—Failure of the World Economic Conference would result in the establishment of state-controlled economic systems, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, leader of Canada's delegation to the international assembly, declared today in a broadcast address, which was transferred throughout Canada and the United States.

Mr. Bennett reviewed world conditions at some length, listed four great problems demanding solution by the conference and welcomed the encouraging results of measures taken by the government of United States to deal with the decline in prices.

He concluded his address on an optimistic note. "After participating in the deliberations of the conference for the past two weeks," he said, "it is still unthinkable that delegates from practically every nation of the whole world will separate without agreeing upon the means that must be taken to effect the common purpose, the restoration of the prosperity of the world and the saving of our dearly bought civilization from destruction."

The Prime Minister listed four problems which must be solved "no permanent improvement can be secured."

1. The general level of wholesale prices must be raised.

2. Exchange must be stabilized.

3. Some international monetary standard must be established as soon as possible.

4. The channels of international trade must be cleared.

The present economic system was not really to blame for present conditions, Premier Bennett said. Exchange fluctuations had created conditions which prevented the system from functioning.

CALGARY FAIR AND STAMPEDE MOST INTERESTING YET HELD

Those planning on attending the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, July 10 to 15, may be assured that this year's show will be one of the most interesting ever held in Calgary.

The Exhibition will have many things to offer, an excellent display of live stock and the buildings will be filled to capacity with domestic, industrial and Government exhibits.

Chief Smart, chairman of the Stampede Parade Committee, is confident of the best parade ever held, which as usual will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

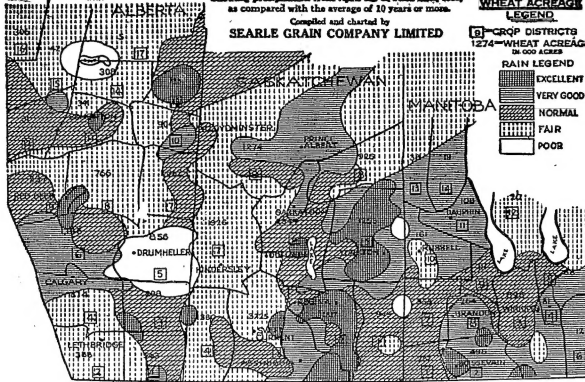

Everything points to the Stampede contests being a tremendous success this year. The chairman of the Stampede Committee, Mr. Jas. B. Cross, who as a director and giving his time in an entirely honorary capacity is devoting a great deal of attention to the Stampede, is receiving the heartiest co-operation.

The running races will commence on Saturday, July 8th and continue during Exhibition week.

The feature attraction in front of the grandstand during the evening will be "The Bird of Paradise," a gorgeous production with one hundred artists and the program will open with the famous chuck wagon race.

EVERYBODY COME AND HAVE A GOOD TIME

If wet, postponement date July 14th

The Cowboy and Old Timers' Ball Friday evening will again be the scene of much merriment. Indians will parade uptown in the morning and will take part in the Saturday evening program when the Stampede champions will receive their prizes, and the week's celebration will close with a mammoth fireworks display Saturday night.

The admission charge to the grounds has been cut in two, and the special passenger fares will assist in providing a large attendance.

LITTLE ACCOUNTS HURT

Akin to the stinging of mosquitoes are the little accounts carried on the books of local merchants. Each in itself does not amount to much except as a cause of annoyance, but a large number of them may be serious.

These little items of fifty cents to a dollar—considered so trivial by those who owe them, that they are neglected, are a real problem to many firms. The goods that this money was used to purchase were bought by the merchant in a large quantity, with a correspondingly large bill that had to be met and paid when due. The merchant has had to find his money, sometimes with considerable difficulty. If, however, his customers would pay their small bills, the collective amount would see him through.

If the residents of this community would make it a point to clear up all their minor debts, they would be rendering a favor to our retailers out of all proportion in importance to the small sums involved.

GET A HOBBY

Most of us wish to do one or more things outside of the work which is our daily task. These are the things of which we should make a hobby, because of the pleasure we derive in doing what we want to do, releasing us from the routine to which we are more or less committed for various reasons.

A hobby gives pleasure and satisfaction without any consideration of financial gain. It should be widely different from our regular occupation, and it should not be costly. Above all, it should entail no compulsion, as it should be a perfectly free expression of a personal desire.

LOCAL ORANGE LODGES ATTEND CHURCH

An impressive church parade of Orange Lodges took place Sunday evening to the United Church. The parade was quite an interesting spectacle. The Women's Lodges turned out in white, and their numbers must have been gratifying to all interested. Under Bandmaster Dr. Janzen the Wetaskiwin Legion Band played several appropriate march numbers, they also played a quartette during the taking up of the collection at the church, which number was quite pleasing. There must have been well over a hundred in the church parade, which occupied the pews of the church. The band and the people filled the transepts. Mr. Schrag made a special reference to the presence of the Legion, being a member of the Loyola Orange Lodge for thirty-seven years. The sermon was on the subject of the Fundamental Principles of Protestantism and proved instructive and helpful to the Order. The hymns sung and the excellent numbers by the choir under the leadership of Mrs. Condie were also such as are used in the Lodge. Before coming to church the visiting brothers and sisters were entertained to supper at the U.F.A. hall, where the lodges usually meet. There were groups from the women's lodges as well as the men's from Breton, Millet, Ponoka, Leduc, and special mention must be made of the busload of women who came from Edmonton. The event was considered a success in every way by the committee in charge.

SPORT

ATHLETICS IN BALL GAME FROM DAYSLAND BY DEFAULT

On Friday evening last a hard-fought contest took place on the local diamond between Daysland and Wetaskiwin in a Central Alberta league fixture. At the end of the ninth the score stood 4-3, and when the visitors refused to go to bat, the United Gouches gave the game to the Athletics. Twitchell did the mound work for Daysland and allowed seven hits, while the visitors got four singles in the six stanzas he pitched. Rattensake took the box for the last three innings and fanned four and did not give a hit.

The line-up:
Daysland—Almase, 1b; Harney, rf; McMillan, ss; Brink, lf; McGregor, c; McCarrill, 3b; Russell, 2b; Shawcross, 3b; Twitchell p.
Wetaskiwin—Cleland, 2b; Harney, ss; Ryan, 3b; Nelson, rf; Rattensake, cf; Krontfeld, lf; Lundell, c; Thrask, 2b; Rotvik, p; Farewell, cf.

WETASKIWIN LOSES AT BAWLF TUESDAY NIGHT

The Athletics journeyed to Bawlf on Tuesday evening to play a league game, and apparently lady luck was against them, as they returned home with the short end of a 11-7 score. The boys have no excuses, merely stating that they could not get going.

SCHEDULED BALL GAME HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

The last scheduled game on the local diamond this season will be played this Thursday evening, with the Athletics as the visitors. This game should be a thriller, as Rattensake will be in the box and Camrose are the league leaders.

I predict a great future for this security. It has investment merit combined with the most exciting speculative possibilities. Good demand was in evidence on breeders steers and heifers $3.00 to $3.50; fair to good $2.50 to $3.00 and plain $1.50 to $2.00.

The calf market firmed up on the better end of light veal calves. Good to choice kinds selling from $3.50 to

The total production of creamery butter from 95 creameries was 21,010,648 lbs. valued at $3,512,085, compared with the all-time production record in 1931 of 22,907,922 lbs. from 93 creameries valued at $4,711,232. The production of cheese in 1932 was 1,439,715 lbs. valued at $140,177 compared with 1,040,588 lbs. in 1931 valued at $1,130,300. The total value of all dairy products, including those manufactured on the farms, the milk production, etc., was $11,850,000 in 1932 reflecting the low price levels in that year. The average production of milk per cow in Alberta has increased from 3,350 lbs. in 1910 to 4,550 lbs. in 1932. Prices taken by Alberta creameries at the large exhibitions in 1932 totalled 137, or 19.5 per cent of the total prices offered. In 1931 the percentage was 16.

During the period from January to May, 22 weeks in 1933, there has been considerable increase in butter production as compared with 1932.

New Airports for Alberta

Two new airports, to be built as part of the unemployment relief program in the province, will be proceeded with shortly. The most important will be a seaplane base at Cooking Lake, east of Edmonton, built as a joint civil-provincial project, the province purchasing the necessary land and the city of Edmonton to operate the port as an extension of its large airport in the city. The construction of this port will mean the transfer, once of a large proportion of the air travel of the northland from Fort McMurray to Edmonton, as at present the passengers from the north must come to the capital city by train from McMurray. Another airport is to be built at Coleman with unemployed labor. About 150 men will be employed at Cooking Lake and the same at Coleman under the direction of the provincial relief commission.

Big New Sugar Warehouse

Construction of the large new sugar storage facilities at the plant of the Canadian Refineries at Raymond, near Lethbridge, is proceeding. The new bins will allow storage for four million lbs. of sugar.

Relief Agreement Renewed

The relief agreement between the province and the federal government is renewed to the end of the year, according to an announcement by Premier Brownlee, who returned this week from Eastern Canada.

Unveil Memorial

A memorial tablet to the late Mrs. O. C. Edwards of Macleod, who for many years was a leader in women's activities in the province, was unveiled this week at the provincial legislative buildings, the tablet being presented by the provincial executive of the National Council of Women.

Unemployed Family Settlement

The full quota of 300 applications for family settlement under the present joint federal-provincial-municipal scheme has been raised upon by the provincial land settlement committee, and nearly 200 of the families have already been placed on the land.

Prominent Visitors

Among the interesting groups to visit Alberta during the past two weeks was the party of 51 delegates to the world's postal congress, headed by Sir Frederick Williamson, C.B., director of the British postal service.

Honour to Alberta Officials

Special honour was done recently, when J. D. Baker, general manager of the Alberta government telephone system, was re-elected president of the Canadian Telephone Association, and Alex. Mitchell, controller of the government system, was re-elected to the post of secretary.

The Grasshopper Situation

During the past week the grasshopper situation in southern districts has grown more acute, and on a more widespread scale. Nearly 500 tons of poison bait per day are being sent out, and the acreage infested has now reached as far north as the C.P.R. Coronation branch and west of Lethbridge to Pincher Creek.

Consolidating Tax Arrears

For the purpose of encouraging property owners to liquidate any arrears of taxes, and also to give better opportunity to those whose lands may have passed under the tax recovery act, to regain title or at least protect their property from sale, the provisions of the new tax consolidation act, passed at last session of the legislature, have now been brought into effect, and may be taken advantage of. The act provides for arrears of taxes of more than a year's standing, to be consolidated, and payments made in six annual instalments, each to be paid not later than December 15 in each year. The first instalment is to be ten per cent of the consolidated arrears, the second instalment ten per cent, the third 15 per cent, the fourth 20 per cent, the fifth 20 per cent, and the sixth 25 per cent. Those wishing to avail themselves of the advantages of the act must apply in writing to the municipality before October 1. Owners of land whose taxes were consolidated under the act of 1931 and 1932, may come under the new agreement by making application up to October 15. The instalments collected under the new system will be prorated among the various taxing authorities involved. The new act provides for certain discounts on the payments of the instalments of arrears as follows: For arrears of six years or more 25 per cent, arrears of five years 22 per cent, of four years 18 per cent, of three years 14 per cent, and of two years nine per cent. These discounts will be computed, not on the total amount of the consolidation, but separately on each class of tax involved. That is, if the portion of the consolidated amount which is due on supplementary revenue is in arrears for six years, then the 25 per cent discount applies, but if that portion of the total which applies to another class of tax is in arrears for only four years, then it will receive only 18 per cent discount and so forth. The act also assists those whose property is at present under the tax recovery act, by permitting them also to make an agreement to pay up arrears under the new act, and on completion of the requirements of the agreement, regain title to their lands. This applies to owners of two acres and more. A special discount of 10 per cent of four per cent is allowed those who can pay the entire consolidated amount in one instalment, this discount being computed on the net amount of arrears due, after the other discounts have been deducted.

WORLD FAMOUS SCIENTISTS THROW SOME LIGHT ON THE MYSTERY OF THE GULF STREAM

Ever since the Gulf Stream was discovered, it has been a source of speculation among oceanographers. Some of its mystery has even reached the layman: Where does it end? What does it do? The recent return to port of "The Atlantis," the floating research laboratory of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, after a several months' cruise in tropical waters, solves much of the deep mystery of the Gulf Stream.

According to data collected by world-famous natural scientists from various expeditions, the Gulf Stream is not, as is popularly supposed, a vast ocean current flowing from the Gulf of Mexico through the straits north of the coast of Florida out into the Atlantic, passing the British Isles and spending itself in far northern seas.

It is really a huge dynamic current, which, following the above route, sweeps to Spitzbergen, and then circles back south via the North Sea and the British Channel to the east Atlantic until it strikes the west coast of Africa. At that point, the "Trade Winds" between Cape Verde and the Equator cause the Stream to deflect westward until it finally reaches the Caribbean Sea.

From there it moves to the Gulf of Mexico, and completes a long dynamic circle. This current is in perpetual motion, varying very little according to the season of the year. Its area is unknown, for it cannot be calculated just when the temperature of the ocean dropped to the point where the Stream began to flow. And its source is equally unknown, for no scientist has been able to estimate how cold the waters in its circuit must become before it will no longer flow.

As a matter of fact, there is some dispute as to whether the Stream is caused by convection currents, or whether it is due to the rotation of the earth on its axis plus its seasonal tilting is responsible for the mighty swirling of the waters of the North Atlantic and neighboring seas.

So, even if the voyage of "The Atlantis" has satisfactorily discovered that the Gulf Stream circles the earth, touches four continents and returns, there is much of the mystery yet unsolved.

EDMONTON EXHIBITION JULY 17 TO 22

With the cheapest railway rates ever in effect for the Edmonton Exhibition, and tickets selling in advance at the cut rate of five admissions for $1, it is anticipated that the Edmonton Exhibition will again repeat its success of 1932, when it had the honor of being one of the three Class A exhibitions on the American continent to reverse the history of the previous year and show a goodly surplus. This year's program is very attractive, including seven days of horse racing, and the use this year for the first time of starting chutes for the race horses, ensuring quick and snappy starts for the races.

The grandstand program is one of the finest ever secured for Fair patrons, featuring the gorgeous and spectacular "Bird of Paradise" Revue which was purchased in France to fill American and Canadian engagements. In addition a number of outstanding vaudeville acts have been secured. The Castle, Ehrlich & Hirsch shows will furnish a midway that will please the most exacting tastes.

The educational and mercantile exhibits will be as usual very attractive, featuring the latest in all farm and home equipment. A new departure will be of interest to Women's Institutes—a series of Little Theatre plays under the supervision of Mrs. Haynes, to be staged in the Women's Building daily.

Basketball and horseshoe pitching tournaments, daily Old Timers' Reunions, and a full and well rounded program awaits the visitor to the Edmonton Exhibition this year, as well as a complete showing of all kinds of live stock and agricultural products.

BIRD BANDING IN CANADA

The study of the migration of birds has particularly the movements of those protected on this continent under the provisions of the Migratory Birds Convention is carried on in Canada. A special interest in this joint effort by the departments of government concerned. Aluminum bands are used in this study and are placed on the legs of birds. It has been compiled. As a result of banding operations, a tagged wild duck of the pintail or sprig variety was killed in the eastern part of the province or Quebec last year has now been found to have come from Iceland, where it was hatched. Pintails are not uncommon on this continent as they nest in large numbers in Western and Northern Canada (as well as in Europe and Asia), and they are often seen on migration in the province of Quebec, but this is the first known case of a pintail from Iceland being shot in North America.

A resident of Brodure Bay, Quebec, a little village near the west end of the Strait of Belle Isle, while out hunting flushed a drake pintail from a small pond and shot it. When he picked up the bird he was surprised to find a small ring of aluminum on one of its legs. On examination he discovered that the band bore a name and Danish address stamped on it. The band was preserved and later shown to a member of the Migratory Bird protection staff of the Department of the Interior. The matter was reported to Ottawa and as a result of the inquiries instituted in Denmark it was revealed that the duck had been banded when yet a duckling on June 30, 1930, in Aalholm, northern Iceland, and later released.

The marking of wild birds of many kinds with numbered aluminum bands is a method of investigation increasingly used by scientists in Europe, North America, and Japan, that is yielding surprising and valuable information. In North America this work is carried on as a joint project by the National Parks Branch of the Canadian Department of the Interior and by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, Canadians wishing to assist in placing such banding and to obtain permits from the Department of the Interior, but all persons finding such bands on wild birds or their remains are requested to notify the Commissioner of the National Parks of Canada, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, quoting the number of the band and stating where and where it was discovered, so as to aid in this unusual research.

BILLIONS IN GOLD LOST

Lost from the face of the earth; $5,000,000,000 in gold! The thing appears to be incredible but the United States Bureau of Mines is authority for the assurance that it is absolutely true, nonetheless.

According to the U.S. Bureau the total output of gold since the production of the world's mines was first recorded in 1792, has been 1,085,000,000 ounces, which is valued at about $18,000,000,000.

Now the present gold holdings of the world for currency purposes are roughly $11,250,000,000, and for the arts, jewelry and other purposes some $2,000,000,000, so that a balance of $5,000,000,000 remains unaccounted for. Where the missing gold has gone can only be surmised but certainly a share of it lies on the ocean floor. Scattered over the world, in forgotten or inaccessible places, lie literally hundreds—perhaps thousands—of treasure ships wrecked by storm or internal weakness, scuttled by close-harried freebooters or stricken down in warfare.

Other millions, if not billions, rest in unmarked graves, hiding places of
